Make Your Sunday A Day of Rest And Inspiration

The CHURCH stands for the things which make the world a good place in which to live—the things which make this a fit community for a man to dwell in with his family. In a world where everything at times seems to be nothing but unrest and turmoil, the CHURCH stands steadfast and strong—"a rock in a weary land" inspiring men and women to be honest, straight, clean and truthful with themselves and one another.

Have you realized your obligation? Are you giving the CHURCH your active support? Are you attending her services and helping her to keep this community THE BEST PLACE FOR A HOME? Go to church tomorrow, lay hold of the things worth while in this life, and help others, by your example to realize their worth.

The DAILY NEWS today publishes notices of all the CHURCHES for the coming Sunday. Do your duty to yourself and to the CHURCH. The time you spend in attending her services will bring inspiration, renewed courage, and greater joy in living.

BY TOM MCGARRY

After the cold and blizzard of last winter, we were all glad to see the first signs of spring.

But the spring of 1946 has been a bit of a disappointment.

The weather has been cool and rainy, and there has been little sunshine.

It's been a bit of a letdown,
but we're still hopeful that the summer will be better.

We're looking forward to the arrival of the first flowers and the return of the birds.

EUROPEAN CALAMITY

The most grievous thing about the present situation is not the deficit of munition, nor the inevitability of his last stand at all as the "Woodrow Wilson of the Hellenes."

It is not the probable return of Constantinople and the endemic misery of the loss of the man who was to have been spared from the rest of human life.

It is not the fact that the existing king is to be the next king and this gives a difference of paragraphs the chance to me that the next king is the ungodly king. What is to be feared is even worse than that.

For, suppose Constantine returns and it is finally decided that the Turks are to be pushed out of Europe, and is looking around for a guardian for the City of the Bosphorus, it is finally decided that Greece shall be given protection and realize her ancient ambitions.

Don't you see that this will give the King of Greece the chance to say that the brightest jewel in his crown is the Constantine-oval?

BY THE BALLOT

Six thousand cotton mill workers at Danville, Va., voted to reduce their wages 25 per cent. This was done after the corporation executives had argued their inability to pay the high war wages at the low selling price of cotton cloth.

The vote was resorted to under the policy of industrial democracy adopted 15 months ago.

It follows without saying that it is better, under a scheme of industrial democracy, for employees to decrease their own wages than, under any scheme of industrial autocracy, for the employers to arbitrarily cut wages, but this is not the moment to insist that this experiment proves the success of the policy.

One must wait until, at a time of rising prices of cotton cloth, one sees if these same cotton workers may easily increase their wages by use of the company ballot-box.

Would Organize Girl Scout Club in Triple Cities

A number of girls who have been members of the Girl Scouts in other localities, are seriously considering the organization of a Girl Scout company in the Triple Cities, if enough encouragement is given the idea.

Secretary S. B. Crosby of the Chamber of Commerce has been appealed to by the girls, and he has readily given his consent to do everything in his power to help organize such a movement locally.

There are many girls in the Triple Cities familiar with the great work of the Girl Scouts, who perhaps would form the nucleus of such a club here. These girls are asked to get in touch with Mr. Crosby, to consider a Girl Scout club in the Triple Cities.

Masquerade Ball Tonight at Casino

All roads lead to the Casino Burgoine this evening, when the Civic department of the Palmetto club stages the Masquerade Ball, an affair of great interest in the Triple Cities, when prizes will be awarded for the most attractive and the most comical costumes worn by the participants at the dance.

Bushnell's DeLand orchestra has been engaged for the evening, insuring the excellence of the music for the dance, and many have been busy the past few days designing costumes with which they expect to make a hit with the judging committee.

Judges for the affairs were announced today as follows: Judges for the costumes: Mrs. M. L. Stanley, Mrs. C. M. Blumhagen, Mrs. W. E. Householder, O. E. McMillan and Mr. and Mrs. Julian A. Arroyo. Judges for the most graceful dancing are Mrs. J. C. Howard and Mrs. T. C. Fitzgerald, while the four managers will include Dr. Fred Puleston, H. B. Schulte, J. L. Pepper, and J. D. Morris.

The affair this evening is largely due to the work of Mrs. H. B. Schulte assisted by Mrs. L. Jacques of the Civic department, under whose auspices the affair is being given, and to which department the funds raised will be devoted.

NATIONAL GUARD TEAM BEATS HIGH SCHOOL FIVE

Defeated, but not disgraced, the Daytona Central High school basketball team went down before the fast National Guard team last evening at the Armory, but a score of 21 to 16, the game being one of the best this season. The high school team did not expect to win, as Nicholas Burke, the mainstay of the team this year was out of the game, greatly weakening the high school team, while the National Guard boys were considerably strengthened since their former appearance.

Keith Bishop, Expert Master at St. Augustine, Spent Thanksgiving with his Parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Bishop, of 1010 Main street.

Alex Samra, owner of the Dayton Livery Stable on Orange avenue, today completed the purchase of the L. G. Lyons building on the south side of Orange Avenue, which includes the quarters of the Western Union Telegraph company, the Dayton Florist Shop and a rooming house on the second and third floors conducted by Mrs. Lyman.

The transaction is one of the largest of the early season in local real estate. No change will be made for the present in the leases of the building, the Western Union having a long lease to run, while the florist shop will occupy the west half of the first floor during the coming winter season.

Mr. Samra has also completed arrangements for the erection of a large addition to the building immediately west of the present building, and adjoining to it, the third story to be 18x80 feet, constructed of brick and matching the architecture of the present building.

It is intended that the new store location will be completed by the first of the year and will be rented when finished, at least for the present season.

The rooming house, conducted by Mr. Lyman will be leased for rooming privileges by Mr. Samra and conducted as a rooming house.

The erection of another store building on Magnolia avenue is in keeping with this fast growing section of the city, which property owners in that vicinity believe will eventually be the busiest street in the city.

H. T. Titus contemplates the erection of a new picture house on his property immediately east of the new Samra purchase, which also will add greatly to the business section of Orange avenue.

Secretary S. B. Crosby is placing signs on the Dixie Highway today, leading from Bunnell to Daytona, that motorists may more easily follow the route to the "Most Beautiful Winter Resort in the World."

A sign will be placed in the heart of Bunnell, where the highway makes a turn, stating "This is Bunnell. Turn to the left for Daytona." A second sign is being placed at the end of the brick road ten miles south of Bunnell, and a third just above the Knox & Reed grave, where the highway makes a turn to come south on the west side of the Halifax. These signs are most attractive and will, it is believed, materially assist travelers unfamiliar with the road, to follow the best road south.

One mile of the eight, on the unpaved section south of the brick pavement in Flagler has been completed at this time with coquina rock, and work is being rushed on the balance of the road by the state department and Flagler county officials. Some delay was experienced because it was found that the road tractor could not be used on the road necessitating the procuring of a half dozen mule teams for the work of grading.

County Commissioner J. A. Reilly is showing good progress on his portion of the road, leading north to the Volusia county line, having a force at this time paving with shell the stretch through the swamp from the present paved road to the county line.

Keith Bishop, Expert Master at St. Augustine, Spent Thanksgiving with his Parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Bishop, of 1010 Main street.

Alex Samra, owner of the Dayton Livery Stable on Orange avenue, today completed the purchase of the L. G. Lyons building on the south side of Orange Avenue, which includes the quarters of the Western Union Telegraph company, the Dayton Florist Shop and a rooming house on the second and third floors conducted by Mrs. Lyman.

The transaction is one of the largest of the early season in local real estate. No change will be made for the present in the leases of the building, the Western Union having a long lease to run, while the florist shop will occupy the west half of the first floor during the coming winter season.

Mr. Samra has also completed arrangements for the erection of a large addition to the building immediately west of the present building, and adjoining to it, the third story to be 18x80 feet, constructed of brick and matching the architecture of the present building.

It is intended that the new store location will be completed by the first of the year and will be rented when finished, at least for the present season.

NO. 5—THE DRESSING ROOM

By Edith May

The preliminaries were over. I had been rehearsed a few times by the stage director, a little, wiry man who seemed about to fly apart with nervousness, but quite kind. And the night had arrived when I was to "go up" for the first time—make my actual appearance upon that lighted stage with the audience out front! Friend lady had told us to take a cab from the hotel.

We arrived in a few minutes.

"Tickets, please, ladies!" shouted a man at the ticket.

Wooed in amazement.

"We—we belong."

Before we could explain, an elderly man rushed at us. I recognized the stage manager manager. He looked angry.

"What the—what are you girls doing here?" he shouted. "Don't you know enough to go in at the stage door? Well, I'll be."

He struggled for words, while Edna cut in with some sort of apology and I had all I could do to keep from bursting out crying.

"Go round to the 41st street door!" The manager interrupted. Then he suddenly laughed and kept on laughing till we were out of sight.

I suppose it was funny, our not knowing enough to go to the stage entrance.

Got in at Last.

Well, we got in at last, found the nervous little man and were directed to a dressing room.

"Mr. Ziegfeld has told me to put you in with the nicest girls," he said, leading the way through a maze of stacked scenery, guileys, furniture and lights while men fussing round them.

He opened a door, motioned us to go in, and called out:

"Girls, here's Miss May! She's going on in the bells scene tonight. Look after her."

He hurried off, leaving Edna and me feeling like two castaways on a desert island.

It was a big room, very hot and light, with long mirrors and dressing tables against either wall and down the middle. A dozen girls or so, almost entirely undressed, were making up at the mirrors or standing about chattering. They all stared at us. I wished the floor could have swallowed me.

Edna and I slipped into a vacant place and began struggling with the make-up box I had bought that afternoon.

Nearly every girl was smoking. Boxes of chocolate were passed around and the chattering made me deaf. No one talked to us; but everyone talked at us.

Girls Start Jests.

The more freely the others forgot their clothes and their manners, the tighter I drew my kimono around me, putting on the long silk stockings and yellow slippers and the wisp of a dress the wardrobe woman handed me, as best I could, looking neither to right nor left.

Edna went out to ask about something and the minute she was gone, the girls closed in upon me with jeering laughter and all sorts of remarks—

"What's the great idea?"

"Who's friend are you?"

"When did you get in from Po-dunk?"

"Are you doing this on a bet?"

"Someone must-a left the door open."

"Does your mother know you're out?"

I determined not to cry it if killed me. But when Edna returned I was almost in a fit of nervous hysterics.

I don't know how I ever went through the "bells scene."

I never raised my eyes from the door except to watch the back of the girl's neck in front of me as we went through the steps.

Wanted to Go Home.

When the show was over I got into my own clothes, rushed from the place, dragging Edna with me, into a cab and to the hotel, where I cried myself to sleep.

So this was "the life" so many girls envied!

I wanted to go home to Monroe.

LIFE INSURANCE MEN TO MEET TO CONSIDER ECONOMY AND THRIFT

(The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Presidents of life insurance companies, virtually every state of the union and Canada will meet in this city on December 2 and 3 to discuss the necessity for nation-wide application of economy and thrift in the home, in business, in industry and in the government.

The Association of Life Insurance Presidents. The conference will form part of the proceedings of the fourteenth annual convention of the association.

Companies having in force more than 95 per cent of the $6,000,000,000 insurance policies issued on American lives have signified an intention to send representatives to the convention. The convention will mark the 25th year of American insurance.

"In giving due attention to the 75-year span which American life insurance has achieved," says the announcement, "the convention will consider the extent to which that institution has stimulated individual and national thrift in this country, with a view to developing additional means of using it as a savings agency at a time when the people must economize in order to successfully meet the readjustments following the war."

The consideration of taxation and its relation to national development will occupy a prominent place on the program, the effect of present taxes on business generally, and on life insurance in particular, being discussed.

The association announces that, although chided for indulging in unparalleled extravagances, the American people bought in 1919, $6,000,000,000 of additional life insurance, and that this was 67 per cent more than the amount purchased in 1918, which was itself a record year.

It stated also that 262 American life insurance companies have returned to their policyholders during the five to 12 years of their operations, a total of $11,000,000,000. These companies now stand obligated to make future payments to policyholders and beneficiaries aggregating more than $16-

000,000,000. To guarantee these payments as they become due, the insurance companies are maintaining reserves aggregating $6,000,000,000. These figures are given by the association to show that "life insurance has had unparalleled development in the United States," and the statement adds that "today there is more family protection outstanding in this country than in all the rest of the world."

The National Convention of Insurance Commissioners will meet in New York the same week as the life presidents, the date of the commissioners' sessions being December 6, 7 and 8. The Association of Life Insurance Counsel will also meet that week in New York, its dates being December 7 and 8.

the death of the Mayor of Cork, and the subsequent political developments in Ireland. The death of the Mayor of Cork was followed by the resignation of the members of the cabinet.

This is the comment of one of the leaders of the British Labor party.

"Members of the House received the news with less emotion than they would have heard the news of the Derby," he continued. "There were a few exceptions, such as the members of the Labor party and National leaders like Mr. Asquith and Lord Robert Cecil.

"To the majority of members the Lord Mayor of Cork was simply a Sinn Fein leader. His attachment to the abstract principle of nationalism, his inflexible faith in the justice of his cause, his spirit of endurance, his determination; in short, all those great human qualities which he undoubtedly possessed and which can be admired for themselves alone without reference to the cause in which they were exhibited, inspired little response in the petty minds of the majority of those whom we are pleased to call representatives of the people."

"Parliamentary history can be traced back many generations, but it is doubtful whether it would afford any case of callous indifference and poverty of human idealism to compare with the case of the present House of Commons."

"Is it any wonder that one of the sympathetic members remarked, when referring to the attitude of the majority of the other members: 'They are a lot of hard-faced men who look as if they had done very well out of the war?'

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 27.—A measure to curb the promiscuous activities of "irregular" doctors from other states who seek to capitalize on the misfortunes of humanity and the climatic advantages of Florida will be presented to the next Legislature at the suggestion of the Florida State Board of Health. The bill contemplated will give as its objects the regulation of hospitals and sanatoria within certain practitioners of the "irregular" class.

The State Board of Health is constantly receiving inquiries from physicians out of the state requesting information regarding the possibilities of starting hospitals for the treatment of tuberculosis, nervous and mental disorders and drug addicts. In many instances investigation by the board reveals that the physicians making such inquiries are not of such standing as to assure the proper operation of institutions under their care, and it is in an effort to prevent the operation of such people that the board will take the measure indicated.

Under the present statutes there is the most general state supervision of medical institutions and any person who successfully passes a medical board examination has the right to operate a hospital or sanitarium. Such a law as contemplated would make it possible to require adequate facilities both with regard to physical plants, staffs and nursing forces.

Such a bill, if enacted into a law, would work a great benefit to the entire state and would safeguard unfortunate from imposition, according to Dr. Ralph N. Greene, state health officer. Dr. Greene will present to the next Legislature a program, the adoption of which will insure the greater efficiency of the State Board of Health at no increased cost to the commonwealth.

Stock opinions given today are as follows:

Hayden, Sturge & Co.—"Confidence in the market has been so shattered by its own break, it cannot be expected that rallies will hold until something of a very favorable and fundamental nature appears to induce carriers of stocks to hold on for larger profits."

Shannon, Mills & Co.—"It is our opinion that the last of the year should see wholesale commodity prices adjusted to bottom levels, with retail prices generally lower, and that a business improvement will occur in the early summer after thorough liquidation of retail stocks. While we believe the stock market has very nearly discounted the above, it should be understood that the first of the year will likely show a large business mortality as it is at the time that merchandisers must take account of their positions, and we may see a slightly lower stock market in December."

C. L. Hudson—We continue to maintain our position regarding the advisability of purchasing at present attractive prices, standard railroads stocks and especially low priced bonds and first class industrials."

induce carriers of stocks to hold on for larger profits."

Shannon, Mills & Co.—"It is our opinion that the last of the year should see wholesale commodity

prices adjusted to bottom levels, with retail prices generally lower,

and that a business improvement will occur in the early summer

after thorough liquidation of retail stocks. While we believe the stock market has very nearly discounted

the above, it should be understood that the first of the year will likely show a large business mortality

as it is at the time that merchandisers must take account of their positions, and we may see a slightly lower stock market in December."

(The Associated Press)

NEW YORK Nov. 27—The long sustained decline in the stock market was halted this week, aside from the sporadic selling of some of the more volatile issues recently under the guidance of pools, notably shipping and oil.

Liquidation seemed to have run its course in the more seasoned shares, though it was predicted in consequent quarters a "secondary reaction" most necessarily follow the further decline of prices in the market for common stocks.

Rallies from the extreme low ranged from 2 to 10 points, but this was attributed to a readjustment of technical conditions, as represented by an early extension of the short interest in rails.

One of the significant developments of the exhaustive reaction which followed involved the complete effacement of numerous speculative accounts, was the taking over
of a number of small pools.

Decided ease was shown by the
money markets most of week's call
loans being made at 6 per cent, time
loans running into the new year were made at a fraction under 8 per cent
on prime collateral and purchases of commercial paper were more liberal
than at any period since the early autumn.

Transfer of General Motors control to Morgan-Dupont interests gave rise to the belief that other large industrial companies had changed ownership in the course of the elimination of a number of small pools.

Decided ease was shown by the
money markets most of week's call
loans being made at 6 per cent, time
loans running into the new year were
made at a fraction under 8 per cent
on prime collateral and purchases of
commercial paper were more liberal
than at any period since the early
autumn.

Under skilful guidance of Venezuela almost all the Greek aspirations were granted including the cession of Thrace, Aegean Islands and the territorial annexation of Smyrna with the Asia Minor homeland. This was followed by the allies in consolidating Venezuela and a much larger territory to them would continue to prove

The prospect of Constantine returning to the scene again after the fall of the Polish government will be the assembly's desire to place on the League council.

The northern European powers are already pressing the claim of Serbia and it is not unlikely that Serbia will face the same.

Scandinavian Plan

The Scandinavian countries advocate now deep interest in the economy. They propose an amendment to the covenant which provides that the assembly after the first election, of one lower power, name a new state every year to serve for a period of four years and not be subject to referendum for the following period.

The amendment is intended to reduce successive representations on the part of a third member of states and at the same time, by making such a change in membership each year minimize the members' difficulties.

It is hard to tell the informed men from the disengaged. The Polish government is not thermal lack to disengage from which they originally came in 1918. The Poles are now in the wandering life of the past years, that must soon take their place as the men and women of the new country.

The Red Cross reports indicate that there are more than 500,000 persons in Poland.
